UM'S KYI-YO INDIAN CLUB SEEKS PERFORMERS, RECIPES FOR APRIL 27-MAY 2 YOUTH CONFERENCE

MISSOULA --

The Kyi-Yo Indian Club is seeking Native American performing artists and recipes for its 24th annual youth conference, set for April 27-May 2 at The University of Montana.

The event will feature youth activities, presentations on natural and human resources and an arts and crafts auction. The traditional feed will take place May 2 and the powwow May 1-2.

Interested musicians, dancers, comedians, actors and other entertainers should send their name, address, phone number and a description or tape of their work to the Entertainment Committee by March 31. The club will consider submissions after that date as space allows.

March 31 is also the deadline for submitting traditional recipes to the Feed Committee. The club will compile the recipes and offer them for sale; proceeds will help offset expenses of the feed, which is free and open to the public.

People should send information to the appropriate committee at the Kyi-Yo Indian Club, Native American Studies Building, 600 E. University, The University of Montana, Missoula, MT 59812. For more information, call Shawn Crawford at 549-4890.
